BLAME FOR CIVIL UNREST

As you may know, according to government statistics, most of the homelessness, violent crime and poverty in America today is found in our major cities. With that in mind, please tell me which one of the following statements comes closest to your opinion.

Some people point out that most of America’s major cities have been run by Democrat mayors and city councils for the last 40 years or more, and they blame liberal Democrat policies for the rise in violent crime, poverty, homelessness and civil unrest we are currently witnessing in these cities.

Other people say that Republicans in state governments and in Congress have refused to sufficiently fund education, social services, housing and healthcare programs for our major cities for decades and they blame those conservative Republican policies for the rise in violent crime, poverty, homelessness and civil unrest we are currently witnessing in these cities.

Now thinking about the protests happening in many of our big cities, which of the following statements best represents your opinion?

- These protests are a result of years of injustice and inequality suffered by Americans who are minorities as a result of systemic racism in our police departments and in government in general.

- These protests have stopped being about racial injustice and have become violent riots by people who hate America and want to tear down our government and radically change American culture.
